

I do not subscribe to the public use of cellular telephones aboard airborne aircrafts. I already find it quite offensive and obnoxious to have put up with this activity in public places such as restaurants, malls, grocery stores, etc. with people who have total disregard of people who have to listen to their conversations which are not really meant for the public to hear. I urge the FCC to please band use of cellular phones on planes as it will only create more tension in an already delicate atmosphere.
